The Watershed Symposium is a large scale, three day event organized every three years. The event provides a focused setting to gain new ideas and new partners in watershed conservation with participants from around the state and our neighbors in the west. Over 200 active participants from the public and private sector are expected to attend this unique educational opportunity.

We are committed to our constituents in grassroots conservation and are providing local conservation districts, non profit watershed groups and students the opportunity to showcase successes at the 2010 Symposium – at no cost. Your poster can honor your community or organization, spotlight a unique program or research project or draw attention to a new threat or opportunity for collaboration.

Space for an Easel with Poster: FREE

Symposium participants will receive an hour of dedicated time to peruse vendor booths and posters during the evenings of September 7th and 8th. Additionally, information may be viewed during breaks between sessions and meals. We will utilize the first and second floor of the hotel for display space.

Space is limited and posters will be accepted on a first come—first serve basis . You must provide your own easel.

If you are interested to support our efforts, please consider making a donation of services or materials to our auction.

Thank you!
